

Historical documentation

Class timeline and archival-research database

Table of contents

1	Historical documentation	1
2	Classification codebook	2
3	Documentation reminder	3

1 Historical documentation

For each event or primary-source artifact contributed to the class database, document the following information. Complete fields as precisely as possible. When information is uncertain or unavailable, use a brief note such as Unknown, Approximate, or Not applicable rather than leaving the field blank.

Database field	What to enter record_id	A unique identifier assigned to the entry event_or_artifact_name	A concise, descriptive title record_type	Event or Artifact date_start	Start date or approximate year/date date_end	End date, where applicable date_precision	Exact date, Year, Decade, Approximate, or Date range location	City, state/territory, region, nation, or another relevant location historical_period	The broader historical period selected by your group summary	A brief factual description major_event	1 = yes; 0 = no

Database field	What to enter
major_event_rationale	Explain why the event does or does not meet your group's criteria for a major historical event education_related	1 = yes; 0 = no education_connection	Explain the item's relevance to schools, teaching, learning, literacy, educational access, or policy; enter N/A when not applicable primary_source_title	Title or description of the primary source primary_source_creator	Person, organization, court, newspaper, institution, or other creator primary_source_date	Date the primary source was created or published repository	Archive, collection, library, or database where the source was found source_url	Stable public URL or repository permalink citation	Full citation in APA, MLA, or Chicago style trial_connection	Plessy, Brown, Both, or No direct connection trial_connection_note	Explain any connection to historical context, legal questions, educational access, or group research group_id	Your timeline group identifier contributors	Names of the students responsible for the entry verification_status	Draft, Reviewed by group, or Ready for class database

2 Classification codebook

Use the following codes consistently so that the class can filter, sort, and visualize the shared database.

Field	Code	Meaning
major_event	1	The event meets the group's stated criteria for historical significance

Field	Code	Meaning
major_event	0	The event does not meet the group's stated criteria for historical significance education_related	1	The event or artifact directly relates to schools, teaching, learning, literacy, educational access, or education policy education_related	0	The event or artifact does not directly relate to education

3 Documentation reminder

An entry can be historically significant without being directly related to education. Likewise, an artifact can be directly related to schooling or teaching without being classified as a major event.

For example, Brown v. Board of Education can be coded as both a major event (1) and education related (1). A local school-board record may be coded as not a major event (0) but education related (1).

Return to the historical artifacts page for the full timeline activity, archive resources, group roles, and the connection between historical research and the Supreme Court trial reenactments.